Winnipeg, May 15.

Ten men were killed in a Michigan mine. Anarchists threaten to destroy the Chicago fair. 40,000 people attended the Chicago fair on Saturday. The Minerve of Montreal has a bitter attack on McCarthy. Ambrose John dropped dead on the hay market on Saturday. Van Horne and party arrive to-morrow, proceeding west on Wednesday. Mrs. McCabe's house was burned at Banff and two children lost their lives. A train on the New York Central broke the world's record by making a mile in 32 seconds. It is again officially stated that the Earl of Aberdeen has been appointed governor-general of Canada. Aberdeen says it is time. Lord Stanley leaves for England in July. A full court delivered judgment on Saturday morning in the suit between the rival street railway companies operating in our city, sustaining the judgment given by Justice Bain. The result is that Austin's company does not get any relief or an injunction against the electric company.

Battleford, May 15.

Justice McGuire is on his way here from Prince Albert to hold court. F. A. D. Bourke has charge of Moosomin's reserve during Mr. Applegarth's absence. W. Peterson has rented R. C. Laurie's farm. Mr. Laurie will be surveying most of the summer. Prairie fires are doing much damage around here, and the police have their hands full fighting them. Two cases at the police court last week, for selling liquor to Indians, were dismissed after a hearing. Our steam ferry spent nearly a whole day on a sand bar upon which she had got stuck, last Thursday. Insp. Moodie left here Saturday for Onion Lake, to inspect the detachment of Mounted Police there. W. Peterson very nearly got drowned last Wednesday, while crossing the Saskatchewan river at Pitt. He was on his way back from Onion Lake, where he had taken the mail, and when the river was reached, Mr. Peterson and an Indian started to cross with a skiff. They packed the backboard, mails, etc., into it, and about the middle of the river it upset, throwing its contents into the river. Both men clinging to the boat and drifted to a bar to be rescued by Mr. J. Matheson. After a two days hunt to recover the mails and other lost articles, everything was found except two wheels of the backboard.

LOCAL.

ROADS are good. RIVER falling. TRAINS an hour and a half late to-day. SPLENDID growing weather last week. THE bulk of the seedling is over in this district. GESE were flying northward in large numbers last week. E. F. CAREY left on Wednesday last on a trip to Beaver Lake. A. J. ROSS of Calgary left for home by trail on Sunday of last week. RAIN again on Thursday night and again on Friday at noon and in the afternoon. JOHN Groat, of G. Thomson's drug store, who has been dangerously ill for the past week is improving slowly. C. M. WOODWORTH, barrister, arrived from Nova Scotia on Thursday's train to seek out a professional location. THE merchants in town have entered into an agreement to close their places of business at 7:30 p. m., during the summer. D. W. MACDONALD's drug store sign was pulled down on Friday evening by a horse which had been tied to the post which held up the sign. WM. BELL, Ed. Plumb, W. Stent, R. Armstrong and Dr. Hicks, witnesses in the Bell case, arrived on Thursday's train and leave for home to-morrow. THE funeral of the late Thos Smith, of South Edmonton, took place on Sunday afternoon to the Edmonton cemetery. Rev. C. Cunningham conducted the funeral services. THE Teachers' Institute, conducted by Messrs. Goggin and Hewgill will be held in the school house Edmonton, on Thursday, May 18th, commencing at 9 o'clock a.m. Principal Goggin will deliver an address on "Morals in the Public Schools," in Robertson's Hall, Edmonton, on Thursday evening, May 18th, commencing at 8 o'clock. In addition to the address there will be a short musical and literary programme. The general public are cordially invited to attend. THOS. SMITH, proprietor of the Ontario House, South Edmonton, died suddenly about noon on Saturday at his dwelling in South Edmonton. He had been ill for a few days, but was able to be around and no such serious result was expected. Mr. Smith was an old resident of Edmonton having come here about 1875. He traded for some years and afterwards brought the first threshing machine into the district and then the first steam thrasher, hauling it all the way from Winnipeg with oxen in 1881. He owned the Ontario house, but was not running it himself. He came from Fallowfield, Ontario, near Ottawa, and was unmarried.

REV. J. GLANVILLE and Mrs. Glanville will open revival services in South Edmonton Methodist church this evening. Their closing service in the Methodist church, Edmonton, was held yesterday evening.

R. N. KIRKPATRICK, of the customs office at Calgary, arrived on Thursday's train to look about the seizure of E. O. Chapman's stock. Mr. Kirkpatrick is a cousin of G. R. F. Kirkpatrick, manager of the Imperial bank here.

H. GARIETY arrived from Monday's train. He has commenced the erection of a building 24x40, 2 stories high on the corner opposite the Imperial bank for present occupation for business. He will erect a brick building later in the season.

On Wednesday last a little boy about three years of age, son of Fred Gabel of Stony Plain, started from home to go to his uncle's house about a mile away and up to Friday noon had not been heard of afterwards. Searching parties were out on Thursday and Friday, without result. He was barefoot and without a hat when he left home. His foot marks were seen in several places by the searchers, but no other trace of him was found. As the weather has been warm ever since he was missed he may be alive yet.

A SPECIAL train arrived this morning about 6 o'clock, carrying Dr. Webb's touring party. The train comprised six pullmans and left for the south about eleven o'clock. Dr. Webb is a son-in-law of W. H. Vanderbilt. Assistant superintendent Nidlock of Medicine Hat accompanied the party. The party numbered 30 in all. Ten members came across the river in M. McCauley's and Alf Brown's rigs, and were driven around the town. Dr. Webb himself was unable to come across as he was unwell. The train came direct from Seattle to Edmonton, and returned by the same route.

On Friday morning Mr. Kirkpatrick, collector of customs, seized a span of mules in the possession of E. O. Chapman of South Edmonton for infraction of the customs laws. It appears that when Mr. Chapman made up his mind to go south he found it necessary to dispose of the stock he brought with him, that is a pony, a span of horses and a span of mules. Last week he sold the pony to M. McCauley and the horses to T. W. Chalmers, D. L. S. On Wednesday the pony and horses were seized by the police for alleged infraction of the customs laws. Afterwards Mr. Chapman had an opportunity to dispose of the mules, and before letting them go out of his possession prepared to go to Calgary to arrange with the customs officer there regarding the payment of dues, there being no person nearer to whom he could pay them. The seizure was made without giving him this opportunity. There may be law for this high handed and extraordinary procedure, but if there is it was not framed to meet cases such as that of Mr. Chapman and should not have been enforced in his case. It does not appear to the sense of fair play of the community and is calculated to do grave injury to the best interests of the country. Mr. Chapman has only done what dozens of other settlers from the States have done, without a word of protest, and no harm has resulted, nor would there in his case. This will be looked upon by most people as a case of bull dozing and will be resented accordingly. There is very little use in allowing settlers from the States to bring in stock if they are endangering themselves by disposing of them in cases of emergency. As well say to them at the start that they must not bring their stock in. It must be understood that Mr. Chapman is ready and willing to pay the duty on his stock and that he has not been allowed that privilege.

STOP THE EXODUS.

The Calgary Herald publishes a number of clippings from Maritime province papers showing a large number of members of the farming community leaving for the States, and comments as follows:

New under the government's immigration policy, notwithstanding the condition of things here described, notwithstanding the fact that thousands of these Canadians are leaving the Maritime provinces every year, the Dominion government do not feel justified in putting a single agent in the field to arrest this mighty exodus and turn it in the direction of the government's free homesteads in the Northwest Territories. The Dominion government possesses abundant means and facilities with which to arrest this disastrous movement, but it does not lift a finger to do so. It can learn through its postmasters, its customs officers and other officials of the intention of these emigrants long in advance of their actual departure from our country, but it refuses to ask for this information and therefore fails to supply it to those agencies, such as the C. P. R., the Manitoba government or the Northwest government who could use it legitimately, and practically stop the exodus, not only from the Maritime provinces but from Ontario and Quebec, where it is almost equally great. The government are spending a great deal of money to bring immigrants into Canada from the United States. They stand on no ceremony there; and the results are satisfactory. There will be thousands added to the population of Manitoba and the Territories from that quarter during the current year. But so far as the general interests of the Dominion are concerned, where is the gain if the exodus from Canada is permitted to go unchecked? Why should the government not interfere to check the outgo when it has the power to do so? If the provincial government will not move in the matter; if the people of the province immediately interested care nothing for this great loss of population, why should the Dominion government look on and witness this vast, this fatal drain of the life blood of the country without taking the measures within their power to check it? These measures include an active enlightening of the intending emigrants to a foreign country on the advantages which the Northwest has to offer; or, if the government has not the courage to grapple with this great evil it can utilize its officials in the way we mention in informing those immediately interested in settling the Northwest at an early moment of the intention of those who propose to expatriate themselves, that persuasion may be used to retain them in their native land. A desperate disease calls for a sharp remedy, and we know of nothing more deplorable in the circumstances of Canada than the exodus of our people of the Eastern provinces, which stares every intelligent man in the face. It is useless for the government or its press to deny the existence of the exodus. It might as well attempt to deny its own existence.

The Canadian Magazine for May is bright, varied, well illustrated and in every way a credit to Canadian literary taste. The contents are: "Education vs. Cram," by A. H. Morrison; "British Hopes and British Dangers," by A. H. F. Lefroy; "Let us Smelt our own Steel," by William Hamilton Merritt; "The Canadian Star," illustrated by H. W. Charlesworth; "Is Canada Coming?" by Dr. Bryce, Secretary of the Ontario Board of Health; "The Canals of Mars," accompanied by Schiaparelli's map; "A Trip after Bark in Northern Ontario," by T. C. Birnie; "Fort Nelson and Hudson's Bay," by D. B. Read, Q. C.; "Books and Points," by Helen A. Hicks; "Tales of Wayside Inns," by Henry Lye; a romance; "To History Unknown," by Stella E. Asling; besides several excellent poems. The Canadian Magazine, for Canadians, who want to be informed on the best thought and literature of their country, can not afford to be without. CONCERT AND SOCIAL.

The following account of the concert and social given by the South Edmonton Presbyterian church choir on Friday evening, May 5th, did not reach this office until Thursday evening last. Hence the long delay in the report appearing. The concert was in aid of the organ fund, and was well attended, a number being from Edmonton. The following programme was rendered: Chorus, "Hallelujah for the Cross," by the choir; Address by the chairman, Rev. D. G. McQueen; Duet and chorus, "Sing on Oh blessed music," by the choir; Instrumental duet, organ and violin, Miss Katie Clark and Mr. Bert Ring; Solo, "When the Swallows Homeward Fly," Mrs. Somers; Address, Mr. Peck; Quartette, "One Day Nearer home," Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Mitchell, and Messrs. Bell and Mitchell; Chorus, "Pleading with thee," by the choir; Reading, "The first settler's story," Miss Clark; Quartette, "Behold I stand," Mrs. Mitchell, and the Messrs. Currie and Mitchell; Duet, Mrs. Somers and Miss Mahon; Chorus, "Ho Reapers," by the choir; Instrumental duet, Miss Clark and Mr. Ring; Quartette, "Come where the Lilies bloom," Messrs. Durand, Mitchell, McIntyre and Bell. Refreshments were served at the close of the programme and the concert was ended by the singing of the national anthem. Receipts $21.85 in aid of the organ fund.

Battleford Herald: It is the intention of the navigation company to run their boats on the North Saskatchewan as long as the water will permit this season, with a view of developing trade on the route, especially in coal and lumber, of which there is abundance and for which there would be a good demand if a concession were made on the freight rates of former years. The first boat of the season from Prince Albert is expected to arrive here about May 20.

The following contract surveyors will work between Calgary and Edmonton this season: A. Bourgaunt, John Dume, A. F. Martin, C. A. Magrath, George McPhillips, W. T. Thompson, A. O. Wheeler, C. G. Rainboth, C. C. Dupone, John McAree, H. T. C. Dumais, G. L. Foster, T. W. Chalmers, and S. M. Starkey. J. S. Dennis will have three parties remarking and correcting old surveys under his direction in the Edmonton district.

The North Dakota crop report issued on Friday last states that the acreage to be cropped this spring will be but 8 per cent. of that of last year. The Mankato (Minnesota) Free Press prints interviews with farmers, showing that in that district there has been some rotting of the wheat that has been seeded, and that about all the oats will have to be reseeded.

Qu'Appelle Progress: The old Pipiot reserve, which was subdivided last year, will be taken up by a French colony. Mr. Pierre Tourain, the agent from Paris, France, met the first party at Wolsley a few days ago and took them to the lands selected. It is proposed to settle a large number of people on these lands during the summer. They all come direct from France.

Prince Albert Times, April 26: On Saturday last the by-law granting $3,000 to aid in the erection of a flour mill was voted on by the ratepayers. At the close of the poll the vote stood 86 for the by-law and 5 against, given a majority of 81 in favor of it. The majority also contained two-thirds of the resident ratepayers entitled to vote thereon, so that the by-law was carried.

Miss Mary McNeill has been registered to practice in British Columbia, being the first lady doctor in the province.

THE BELL CASE.
SUPREME COURT.

FRIDAY, May 12.

Queen vs Wm. Bell, manslaughter. The jury in this case was composed as follows: G. R. F. Kirpatrick, foreman, M. Anderson, Geo. Thomson, D. C. Robertson, James McKernan, John Fraser. N. D. Beck appeared for the crown and S. S. Taylor for the prisoner.

Ed. Plumb was the first witness examined. On the day upon which Mickleson was shot witness heard he was on the railway track going south; took a horse and rode ahead of him on the track; Mickleson came up, witness was armed with a shot gun and ordered Mickleson to get down; Mickleson offered witness $10 to let him pass; witness replied that he must wait there until his (witness) friends came up; Mickleson then offered witness $100 to let him pass; witness refused and Mickleson drew a revolver and fired at witness and then ran; chase was given for about four miles, about eight persons taking part all armed; the prisoner Bell was amongst them. Several shots were fired by Mickleson and by his pursuers; He was chased to the bank of the Red Deer, two of the pursuers looked over the bank and saw him; when Mickleson saw them he fired at one of them named Smith, but as he was about to fire his foot slipped and he fell down; he recovered himself and ran along the beach and up the bank once more. During the chase the pursuers called on him many times to halt; he replied by covering every man who came near him with his revolver and sometimes firing; while on the river bank he covered Bell with the revolver several times; Bell shouted to him to "stand and throw up your hands or I'll shoot you you murderer." The pursuing party were greatly excited and fired a number of shots, sometimes at each other. Mickleson at last ran out of the woods, scaled a fence, crossed a field and scaled a second fence; as he ran several of the party fired at him; and after he scaled the second fence Bell fired at Mickleson; the pursuing party thought he might be shamming and Bell covered him with his rifle while two of the party went up and examined him and found him dead, with a wound in the head made by a person shooting from behind and a little to the left; it was impossible to arrest Mickleson alive as he was armed with two revolvers and a dagger; he showed a determination to shoot when any one approached to arrest him; every reasonable means was taken to arrest him alive; could not swear whether Bell fired the fatal shot or not.

R. Armstrong was the first man of the party to speak to Mickleson; as he was digging post holes near the track he saw a man coming along it whom he recognized from the description given by the police as Mickleson; he was acting strangely, sometimes leaving the track and then coming to it again; witness spoke to Mickleson saying it was a cold morning; Mickleson replied, asking how far it was to Red Deer; witness approached close to Mickleson when he saw that his right hand held a revolver in the act of drawing it from his pocket, with his finger on the trigger; witness said that it was four miles to Red Deer, and remarking again that it was a cold morning went away and informed his neighbors Plumb and Bell that Mickleson was there. The remainder of his evidence corroborated that of Plumb. Other shots were fired at the same time as that fired by Bell.

Bell's evidence given at the inquest as to other shots being fired at the same time as his own was put in by consent.

W. Stent, Constable Warner and Dr. Hicks were also called by the crown, but their evidence was not material.

Geo. S. Wilkins was called for the defence and testified that the prisoner Bell was a highly respected citizen, of cool judgment and peaceable disposition.

S. S. Taylor addressed the judge on the following points of law: 1st. Under authority of Blackstone and Russell a hue and cry when raised gives to the parties engaged in the pursuit authority equal to a magistrate's warrant. In this case a hue and cry was raised, 2nd. That Bell, whether acting as a private individual or under authority of a hue and cry acted properly in killing Mickleson and that his act was justifiable homicide for the following reasons: (a) That Mickleson was guilty of felony and was flying from justice, and that notwithstanding Bell had not seen him commit the felony, yet in such cases suspicion was sufficient and that he need not be present and see the crime committed. (b) That any felon may be killed by his pursuers acting as Bell was acting if he does not peaceably surrender, and particularly if he places in jeopardy the lives of his pursuers, as he undoubtedly did in this case. Addressing the jury on the facts he submitted the third point, that it had not been proven that Bell fired the fatal shot. At the same time he requested the jury not to acquit him on that ground, but rather to acquit him on the ground that he was justified. He pointed out that it would be an extraordinary state of the law that would punish any well thinking citizen for upholding with his best endeavors his country's laws and bringing to justice a murderer.

N. D. Beck for the crown agreed with the law as laid down by the counsel for the defence, but objected that he had not qualified it by pointing out that it required special circumstances to justify shooting. He held 1st. That the action of Bell in shooting Mickleson was not justified by the circumstances, and that his pursuers should have attempted to starve him into submission or have used some other means not as severe as those used. 2nd. He contended that it had been proven that Bell fired the fatal shot.

The judge in laying the case before the jury said that in this country the machinery provided for enforcing the law was considered sufficient for its enforcement. There was no Lynch law here nor would it be countenanced. It was only right, when one man killed another, no matter how fully the killing might be justified, that he who did the killing should be called upon to show justification before before a proper tribunal. It would be the duty of the jury to find the prisoner guilty of manslaughter if they were not satisfied that the circumstances warranted the killing of Mickleson in order to arrest him. If they were satisfied that it was necessary to kill him in order to arrest him it was a case of justifiable homicide, and their verdict would be not guilty. He also pointed out that it had not been clearly proven that the fatal shot had been fired by Bell. If they had doubts on this point they should express them by a verdict of not guilty. As to Bell being justified in shooting, the circumstances were very special in his favor. Mickleson was a dangerous character, prepared to shoot any man who approached. He would leave the jury to judge as to the evidence.

The jury returned after an absence of one minute and the foreman announced the verdict of "not guilty."

The verdict was received with demonstrations of applause, which were silenced by the officers of the court.

Winnipeg Commercial, May 6: Fine weather has come at last, and we have had a full week of it, relieving the depressing feeling felt over the crop outlook. Farmers have at last been able to get at their seedling, though in some sections where the soil is damp very little has yet been done. A full crop, however, will be put in, if the weather continues fine for a short time, with the exception of some low districts of limited area, which will not affect the crop in the aggregate. Though the season is almost a month later than usual, the fine weather of the week has encouraged a hopeful outlook. Water in all the streams remains very high, and was rising steadily nearly all the week. In the southern section of the Red river valley in Manitoba, considerable low land has been flooded from the rivers, including lands which would have been cropped, but some of which will hardly be fit for crop this year. This, however, applies to only a very limited area of low land bordering on the Red river or streams emptying into the river.

Qu'Appelle Progress: We learn that Mr. W. T. Thompson, D. L. S., has a contract from the Dominion government to subdivide a large tract of country on the Calgary and Edmonton railway during the summer months, and will leave shortly for the work.

An act passed at the recent session of the Manitoba legislature makes provision for insuring payment of the services of all thoroughbred stallions travelling in the province, by granting the owner a lien under certain conditions on the foal resulting from the service.
